Our Diminished Supplies of Breadstuffs.

[From the New York World, Jan. 12.]

The European war is causing great inroads to be made into our supplies of breadstuffs. Great armies are great destroyers as well as great consumers, and the liberal accumulations of wheat which were made in anticipation of the present struggle have already been greatly diminished. The following will show the stocks of wheat at four principal markets on1st of January, 1870 and 1871:

	1870. Bushels.	1871. Bushels.
Liverpool	6,600,000	2,850,000
New York	4,486,400	3,719,000
Chicago	2,864,000	2,383,000
Milwaukee	1,664,000	1,662,000
Total	15,423,000	10,645,000
	10,645,000
Falling off	4,778,000

It is also stated on what we believe to be good authority, that the stock of wheat in London is a million bushels less than at this date last year. But this decline in the stock on hand, great as it is, would not be of much consequence but for the fact that military operations in France have greatly interfered with fall sowing, and that France and Germany, which usually have a small surplus for the British markets, must a consciently, and are calling upon Great Britain and the United States to feed their armies. The loss of the supplies to Great Britain which she usually obtains from the Continent would not of itself be serious; but when she finds not only a demand from this Continent, but that the Continent is competing with her in markets where she has been usually the only foreign buyer, the influence of this change in the course of trade can scarcely be overestimated. The export demand at this market is consequently much more peremptory than usual, even at the relative high prices now current; the receipts at all our principal markets are smaller than last year; the last crop of winter wheat, whether of amber, southern, western or white California, was not so large as the preceding; and it is very doubtful if in the year just opening we can spare the prodigious export of fifty million bushels, which we made in the course of 1870, and which was not sufficient to prevent a marked decline in the stocks at the British markets. The effect of a sudden termination of the war is the subject of various conjectures; but for the present we have to deal with a large and urgent demand, reduced stocks, and smaller receipts at the principal markets.

A Sad State of Affairs.

[From the Washington Chronicle, Jan. 14.]

The unfortunate situation of affairs at the South is attracting, just now, more attention than usual. At no time since the war, we have reason to believe, has greater disorder prevailed, or has life been less secure than to-day in some of these States. In years past the lawless bands of ex-Confederates confined their operations almost exclusively to the more humble class of citizens; but now emboldened by political successes, no man, however exalted his social or political status may be, is free from danger. Not long ago we recorded the particulars of an insult and threatened violence offered the executive officer of one State, while on a brief visit to a principal town in an adjoining State. More recently, the Kuklux have extended their operations to the great thoroughfares, and a few days ago visited a passenger train at night on the road between Weldon and Wilmington, N. C.—within thirty miles of the latter place—to find objectionable persons. A majority of the late Democratic successes, it is now known, were brought about by intimidating voters. Five of the seven Congressional districts in Georgia have clear Republican majorities, and one at least was carried by the Democracy at the late election by the Kuklux. The Democracy gained North Carolina, though polling no more votes than in 1868. At least twenty thousand voters were kept away from the polls by the Kuklux. In one county this organization overcame a Republican majority of seven hundred by overriding the county the night before election. Judge Tourgee, in a recent speech before the Southern Republican Association, related an incident worth recording. At the last election he had four white men at work for him who were registered and entitled to vote. One was known as a Conservative and the others as Republicans. The Conservative voted, but the Republicans were "warned," and they did not dare exercise the privilege.

Leading Southern men are seeking a remedy for this state of affairs, and to this end it is proposed to hold a meeting in this city at an early day.

The secession sentiment is as strong in many parts of the South to-day as it was in 1861. Their educational institutions are nearly all nurseries of treason, and many cool men believe that without the interference of Congress the present state of affairs will result in an open war.

As one means of warding off this evil a request will be made of Congress, it is understood, to establish a public-school system throughout the whole South. This, it is thought, will have the effect of making a majority of the rising generation loyal, and would disarm many persons now hostile to the Government.

AN INCIDENT OF THE BORDER—A STOLEN CHILD RECOVERED.—The Deer Lodge (M. T.) New Northwest of January 13th says:

Col. Wheeler, U. S. Marshal of Montana, showed us a letter on Wednesday evening, which he had received from Robert Hereford, late Assessor at Helena, and now interpreter for the Bannacks at the Crow Agency, on the Yellowstone, giving account of the recovery of a white girl from the Bannack Indians, after a captivity of eight years. The letter is dated January 6th. It appears that two men, Tilford Kutch and Thomas Colter, had arrived at the Yellowstone under authority of Colonel Wham, commandant of some one of the Eastern forts, to search for the girl who was captured by the Bannacks on Raft river in 1862. Hereford accompanied them to the Bannack camp, where the girl was found. Her name is McIntyre. She is fourteen years old, small of her age, has light hair, and is browned by the sun and storm until she looks like a quarter-breed, which the Indians claim she is. She expressed a desire to go with the white men to her home, and was taken to the interpreter's house. Ten-Boy and Tygee, Bannack chiefs, were surprised at the demand of the captive, but on representation of the facts, yielded her up, and in a few days she will be sent to her home.

That is all the writer states—perhaps all he knew of the circumstances. But in this web of official statements what a woof of romance, of horror and anguish may be woven! We hope the facts will be published, and that a mother's heart may be gladdened by the return of her long lost child.

The Norwich Bulletin tells a capital story of a little affair which took place in one of the schools not far from that city. The Principal of the school in question attempted, the other day, to break one of his pupils—a sprightly miss of "sweet sixteen"—of the habit of scribbling upon her slate. Seeing that she had written the name of her reputed lover, the Principal took the slate and held it up before the school, saying, after having read the name distinctly, "Children, can you tell me who this gentleman is? I have seen his name upon Ella's slate several times. He must certainly be of some importance." And after a pause the Principal continued, while all eyes were fixed intently upon Ella, "Who is he? Is he President of the United States?" "Why, no, sir!" exclaimed the roguish girl, with a very sober look, apparently wishing to clear up the mystery; "he is a real nice young fellow down to Stonington Point!"

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO FEBRUARY 3.

A Reaction in favor of the Empire.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A letter from Col. Duncan Kenny, of the War Department, in Bordeaux, says there is an immense reaction in official circles and among the populace against the Provisional Government. Ten millions of the people would vote for the restoration of the Empire to-morrow. France will refuse to continue the war. The Mobiles arriving at Bordeaux shout: "Vive l' Empereur!"

Bourbaki's Army Destroyed.

BASLE, Feb. 1.—Many thousands of Bourbaki's army have died of starvation. Fifteen thousand prisoners are taken, including one hundred officers, two Brigadier Generals, sixty cannon, seven mitrailleuses and two eagles. Only 8,000 men of the army of Bourbaki escaped in the direction of Lyons. Manteuffel is in pursuit.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The entrance of Bourbaki's army into Switzerland was effected in accordance with a convention between Generals Chinchart and Herzog.

A special dispatch to the Times dated Versailles, says that Bismarck was indisposed and was visited yesterday by the Emperor.

French Demand for Peace.

LILLE, Feb. 2.—The Echo du Nord is in favor of peace. It calls the appeals for resistance made by the municipalities of Bordeaux, encroachments upon the powers of the Constituent Assembly. Meetings are being called in the northern departments to nominate candidates for the National Assembly.

Le Progress, a newspaper of Lyons, publishes the programme of a radical society in Paris, founded by Ballin, Delisbuse and Peyerotter. It pronounces for a republic, with one assembly, and an executive to be chosen and re-called by the assembly, the suppression of a standing army and the substitution therefor of militia comprising the citizens, reduction of the budget, and abolition of the titles and privileges of the nobility. It repudiates forever all wars for purposes of conquest, and concludes with the demand that no negotiations be made with the Prussians while their armies remain on French soil.

There is reason to believe that a large majority of the people of Paris and throughout the country will elect representatives in favor of peace.

The terms of the armistice are accepted by all the departments of France except the ones of Bouches du Rhone.

At Marseilles the elections will be proceeded with.

Favre has appealed to the Emperor of Germany to pity Paris, admitting that he had overstated the amount of provisions in Paris by several days. The Emperor sent 6,000,000 rations in compliance with the request; also, 15,000 cattle.

The Italian Capital.

The Italian Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 232 against 29, resolved to transfer the capital to Rome.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Senate confirmed George L. Woods, of Oregon, as Governor of Utah; George A. Black, Secretary for Utah; Alanson Hinman, Collector of Customs for the district of Oregon; R. Brown, Postmaster at Napa City, California.

The Attitude of the Ex-Empress.

The London Observer publishes the following statement respecting the Empress Eugenie, which it has received from "a reliable quarter:"

"The last Imperial Council was held at the Tuileries early in the morning of the 4th of September. The Empress announced that she had received a message in cipher from the Emperor confirming the news of the surrender of the army and the captivity of His Majesty. After an animated discussion, the Empress was advised by a member of the Council to instantly convoke a meeting of the officers of the Paris garrison in the court-yard of the palace, to tell them what had happened, and ask for an assurance of their support. The Empress replied that she did not doubt the appeal would be loyally responded to, but she would not for the sake of the Emperor, or the Regency, or the dynasty, suffer a drop of blood to be shed in civil strife. During her exile Her Majesty had strictly maintained the same impassive attitude. She has constantly rejected every proposal to interfere in the affairs of France. She has lived in complete privacy, and, so far from intruding herself on public attention, has successfully striven to keep her name out of the papers. The accounts that have appeared of Her Majesty's intrigues and negotiations for the restoration of the Imperial power are absolutely and entirely without foundation. The resolution adopted on the 4th of September not, in time of war and invasion, to incur the risk of civil discord has never been violated in thought or deed."

Grant and Colfax Again.

[Springfield Republican's Letter.]

A few persons, given to hypercriticism, say they don't exactly like Mr. Colfax's advocacy of Gen. Grant's nomination, for they consider him as an essential part of the ticket. This, however, is not the proper view, for he has withdrawn his name, absolutely, and though we may believe that the national convention in 1872 will refuse to let Mr. Colfax retire, yet the Independent article was written on the ground that he is out of the case himself. For one I have never doubted the action of the convention next year, and it will nominate both Gen. Grant and Mr. Colfax. The reason is plain; we cannot do any better. Who is there, on the whole, more popular than Mr. Colfax? We of New England would like to see Mr. Dawes vice president. He deserves it, and would make an admirable officer, but the South and West will not permit any New England man on the ticket. Now then, what man in the South will run any better than Mr. Colfax? "Name him." There is no such man. If Gen. Thomas had lived, very likely he would have been nominated for president, and then a new vice-president would have been selected, but as it is certain that Gen. Grant is to be run again, the republican party cannot do better than take the whole ticket as it stands—paying no attention to Mr. Colfax's withdrawal. The fact that nearly everybody regards Gen. Grant's renomination as certain, gives to Mr. Colfax all the excuse he needs for his advocacy of it. If the party were seriously divided upon that question, then it might seem a little improper for him to use his high position to further success of one of the aspirants to the high position of president.

GERMAN OBSTINACY.—A Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, describing one of the latest sorties from that city and the fighting which occurred says:

"There is nothing animated so like inanimate obstinacy as the obstinacy of Prussian infantry. They do, indeed, sometimes yield; they are yielding now, on the hillside yonder; but see, how like an Indian rubber wall they sway back and forth. When they yield it is with a slow pertinacity which wrings applause from adversaries. See! there is the difference between the German and French soldier, between leap and shout on one side, momentum, push, silence on the other. There is a vivacity and elasticity in the French. They are showy; you feel like hurrahing for them. You wish such high spirited vapor might have its reward. There is toughness, rooted-ness in the Germans. They are bull-dogged, You must admire them, and cannot refrain from a feeling of pride, as you remember that theirs is your side after all when it comes to race.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Dispatch from Bordeaux.

BORDEAUX, Feb. 2.—Twelve opposition journals have protested against the decree of Tuesday touching disqualifications. A deputation was sent to Jules Simon who declared the decree of Paris 23th abolished all disqualifications. Simon said he would insist on the execution of the Paris decree.

A public meeting elected twelve Commissioners of Public Safety, which included Gambetta, Louis Blanc and Rochefort.

A telegram from Favre says yesterday the Germans agreed to ignore the election in Alsace.

The 24th regiment, including Garabaldi, escaped the pursuit of Manteuffel. Manteuffel pursued the French to the Swiss frontier. Muentzerg is crowded with fugitives and the churches are filled with sick and wounded.

French Prisoners in Switzerland.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—French prisoners are distributed through the Cantons of Berne, Freiberg and Geneva. The French are still entering Switzerland.

Dispatch from Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 2.—It is said the Government of Paris has undertaken the obligation to advocate in the Constitutional Assembly the peace preliminaries agreed upon at Versailles.

The Foreign Office has been telegraphed that none are now admitted to Paris except with passports.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—In the House Sargent introduced a bill for the sale of timber lands in California and Oregon.

The bill defining swamp and overflowed lands deferred.

On motion of Johnson the Senate bill to create an additional Land District in California was passed.

Cabinet Rumors.

Rumor says several members of the Cabinet will be superceded by the 1st of March, but those gents disclaim any knowledge of change, and so far as is known, there is no present prospect of a reconstruction of the Cabinet.

The Committee on Ways and Means have not yet acted definitely on the bill to abolish the income tax, as the members now here are equally divided on the subject, and they are waiting for the return of McCarthy before voting.

NEW MEXICO.

SANTE FE (New Mexico), Feb. 3.—The following has been received from Ralston, New Mexico, dated Jan. 29: A week since fifteen men left here to prospect in the Cherico mountains. News is just received from Apache through the mail driver, that the party were attacked by Indians. Two of their number ... wife to obtain assistance. Two others were killed before they left. Intense excitement prevails here. The fear and suspense regarding the prospecting party are terrible, as it was composed of our best men. Capt. Russell, of Fort Bowie, left with a detachment of twenty-five men to render aid.

The Indians drove off about 3,000 sheep, belonging to Cristobal Chaver of Below. Two men are supposed to have been killed by the Indians, as they have not been heard from. On Monday several citizens started in pursuit, but they have not yet been heard from. The Indians drove the sheep in the direction of the White mountains.

England's Congratulations to the New Emperor.

The London Standard contrasts the alacrity which Mr. Gladstone's Government has shown in congratulating the Emperor of Germany on his accession to his new dignity with its hesitation in acknowledging the French Republic. The foundation of the German Empire under the auspices of Count Bismarck is not such a happy event for the world in general that we should go out of our way to offer our congratulations to the new Kaiser. In the present state of affairs any such congratulation is singularly mistimed and infelicitous. What do we congratulate the Emperor William upon? Is it that by a series of daring stratagems and unscrupulous wars he has arrived at the completion of the destiny which the Hohenzollerns had set before themselves? Are we, who are forbidden to recognize the French Republic, to do the "ko-tow" before the successful military despot at Versailles? What is the reason for the difference which has been made between France and Germany, and how is that difference to be accounted for to the English people? There are obviously other and more pressing duties in which Mr. Odo Russell might have been engaged than in this unseemly homage to the yet uncrowned Emperor of Germany. We do not yet know whether Prussia intends to respect the neutrality of Luxembourg, and it is pretty clear that she has made waste paper of the treaty of Prague. Yet this is the very season, in the midst of a general distrust in treaties created by the conduct of the two Eastern European Powers, that we depute our representative at Versailles to congratulate the one Power which has been most instrumental in bringing all public law into contempt, in his successful attainment of the supreme object of his ambition; and this while France is groaning under the iron heel of her ruthless conquerer. What opinion will be begotten of this last act of Mr. Gladstone's Government throughout Europe, and how much nearer will it bring us to the desired haven of moral adviser-general of the nations?

It illustrates the odd reversal of climactic distinctions, of late, that while half tropical Florida had two inches of snow, ice four inches thick and vegetation—perhaps the bananas and oranges with it,—thoroughly killed,—they celebrated the last day of the old year at Duluth by a regatta on Lake Superior, while the sails and steam of commerce navigated its strangely open waters. There will have to be an entire remodeling of isothermal lines if this swapping weather between north and south continues.

GOVERNOR GEARY.—Many of the Democratic papers quote with decided satisfaction those extracts from the message of Governor Geary of Pennsylvania, which reflect upon the course of President Grant. Of course regard such enunciations as indicative of a want of harmony in the Republican party. It should be remembered that at least a year ago political organizations were commenced in the East, designed to start an independent party movement, with Governor Geary as the Presidential candidate. When the Governor therefore refers to the danger to be apprehended from the use of military power at the polls, especially at the hands of a bad President, or a weak one, and touches upon other acts of the administration, it must be understood that these are gentle hints, that the Governor would, in his own estimation, make a much more safe and discreet President for the next term than General Grant. Only this and nothing more.

Judicial Salaries.

On the 14th January there was before the House of Representatives a proposition to increase the salaries of Associate Justices of the Supreme Court to $10,000, and that of Chief Justice to $10,500. A lively discussion grew out of it. Members divided on the question, and finally an amendment fixing the salaries at $8,500 and $8,000 respectively was agreed to. Butler, of Massachusetts, in advocating an increase of salaries, stated the case in this way:

"I desire to call the attention of the House to a few facts which are worth while to consider in considering this question. In the first place, when upon the question of economy, I desire to say that the salaries given by our fathers in the foundation of the Government were greater in proportion than those proposed now. The salary for the Judges originally, in 1789, was $4,- and that of the Attorney General was at the same time $1,500. The Attorney General now gets $8,000, while the Chief Justice only gets $ [illegible] and we had three millions and a little [illegible] people, over whom this same magistracy presided. You can easily compute the difference in the percentage of increase. In 1799 the wealthiest man in the country died; one was George Washington, the great farmer; the other a Boston Derby, the great merchant; one with $800,000, and the other $900,000. They had the most considerable fortunes of that day, while of the fortunes of to day, there is one man worth one hundred and eighty to two hundred million dollars, and others worth from fifty to seventy million dollars. There are more men to day in the city of New York actually worth $1,000,000 than thirty years ago there were worth $100,000. The change of prices, the rate of living, everything has changed. But the salaries of the Judges have been the very last thing to advance.

To the argument that we should be economical in the matter of salaries, Butler affirmed that we are far less extravagant in proportion than the men who founded our Constitution. The cost of living in 1789, he affirmed was not one-quarter as much as it is now. A Judge could then buy the best horse the country afforded for fifty dollars. He could hire the best of help, men who would be fit to run railroads now as superintendents for $200 a year. He could have woman hired on his house for thirty-three cents a week who were fit for any domestic position. The speaker continued thus:

And lawyers also get higher fees in proportion to the salaries paid to the Judges? Why, there are to day men practicing before the Supreme Court who get as much in fees in a single case as a judge gets as salary for a whole year! Now let me show the difference between now and forty years ago. I have seen a receipt given some forty odd years ago by the ablest lawyer the country ever produced. I say it without fear of contradiction the ablest we ever have had before a jury or Court Jeremiah Mason, of New Hampshire, at all events, no man will deny that he was one of the ablest men the bar of the United States can boast of. And he, forsooth, in a case which occupied him two entire days, sent in his bill for twenty five dollars! Employ now the same talent and the same standing at the bar in any Court for the same length of time, and you would have to multiply that fee twenty times at least.

With such facts as these before us let us not be frightened at the idea of raising salaries. Why, we collect three times as much in taxes on matches than will pay all the expenses of the judiciary. And who feels it? I desire that our Judges shall have liberal salaries and shall vote for the larger salaries now proposed.

These are sound views and were not met by any argument except the vulgar one that if the Judges have no wish to serve for the salaries they are receiving they can resign, and plenty of men can be found who will accept seats on the Supreme Bench at the salaries now paid. Such an argument used in relation to the Supreme Court is contemptible. Such a doctrine appealed to call to the Bench men of ability, integrity and ability will not long remain. The truth is, our judicial officers are necessarily, both State and Federal are insufficiently paid, and we hope that the American people will sometime learn that parsimony in this matter is neither just nor economy.

The New York Times hopes the opponents of the San Domingo project are now ashamed of their attacks upon the President. The composition of the Committee of Inquiry, and the facilities afforded for an impartial investigation in the spot, are the best possible vindication of General Grant's motives and of the faith in the policy he has so strenuously urged. The gentlemen engaged may not all return advocates of annexation, but they will return prepared to bear testimony to the integrity of the Administration. The more thorough their investigation the more satisfactory it will be. Time is of less importance in a matter like this than the acquisition of all the facts that are essential to the formation of sound conclusions.

The leading editorial of this week the Portland Enterprise asserts again that [illegible] poorer now than it was ten years ago and [illegible] the alleged fact to "Federal extravagance" as usual. In its local column, same issue, the Enterprise prints a statement showing that the P. T. Co. brought down the river 3000 tons of freight, a much greater amount than they ever brought down before in a single month; and this notwithstanding the fact that the railroad brought down very large quantities. We submit that a fact like this is sufficient answer to the assertion that the country is growing poorer.

The New Jersey Legislature, now Republican in both branches, will ratify the Fifteenth Amendment. Although this measure is already a part of the Constitution, New Jersey had no part in its adoption, having, under Democratic legislation, by a partisan vote, rejected the amendment. The Republicans of the State, however, desire to put it on the record that New Jersey has reversed its previous action, and now sustains this important portion of the law.

The report of the Census Bureau, just made public, fixes the population of the Territories as follows:

Arizona	9,658	52,277
Colorado	49,631	.....
Dakota	14,181	.....
Idaho	14,884	.....
Montana	20,504	.....
New Mexico	36,245	93,516
Utah	100,000	40,000
Washington	23,271	11,594
Wyoming	9,118	.....

Those territories in which the figures for 1860 are omitted were not organized until after that time.

The Albany Democrat says that the recent decision of the Supreme Court of California against the validity of the Fifteenth Amendment will prevent colored men from voting in that State at the next election. Does the Democrat really believe this? We guess a way will be found to enforce the Constitution.

Ex-Senator Frederick T. Frelinghuysen has been elected United States Senator from New Jersey, for the full term of six years. He is an able man and a Republican of undoubted integrity and fidelity.

A movement is said to be on foot in California to bring out A. Seligman as the Republican candidate for Governor. He has always been a strong Republican, and has great popularity.

OREGON.

Miss Lucinda Cook of Oregon City, drew a set of jewelry in the Nevada lottery.

On Monday next, 20,000 acres of land will be sold at auction at Albany. The land belongs to one of the military road swindles.

A tin tinker recently disappeared from Albany, and fears are entertained that he is drowned, as he got on the boat to go to Corvallis, and has not been heard of since.

"The next annual Fair of the Linn County Agricultural Association, will commence on September 26, 1871, lasting five days. The premium list will be published soon.

Brigadier General Octavius Flavius Tintinnabulum has written a letter from "Headquarters, 2d Brigade, Portland, Oregon," authorizing E. W. Pike of Albany, to organize a company of Linn county braves for the defence of our beloved State and common country.

A meeting was held at Salem on Thursday to consider the proposition to establish a public library. E. Williams, J. K. Gill and W. A. Richardson were appointed a committee to confer upon the matter and agree upon a time and place for a mass meeting of citizens, and at such meeting to submit a report of their views as to the proper course to be pursued in establishing a public library and reading rooms.

From the Statesman: We learn that Wells, Fargo & Co., in compliance with the law lately enacted, requiring deposits of foreign corporations to be made with the State Treasurer, have lately made the attempt to remove the $50,000 heretofore deposited with the County Treasurer of Multnomah county, to the State Treasury. This consisted of $50,000, of registered bonds of the United States, and Treasurer Fleischner declined to receive them, on the ground that as the State law provides that the coupons shall be semi-annually returned to the depositor, which he construed to mean that only coupon bonds should be received on deposit.

The following letter has been addressed to the Salem Statesman: "Sir: I looking over your paper and see you Represent me as a thief—I have lived in this country for term of Thirteen Years and can Prove to the State that i am no Thief—So if you don't correct in your next Issue of me being one of the numbers of thieves in This City or State or anywhere i have lived in this Worlds i think I am Sure i shall you when you Least think doing So Please Retain this for your pocket so you may not forget it for as you Say, if it is not corrected i will I have the Honor as thief to—Correct you not many days to come.—Tom De Witt." The writer, the Statesman says, is a colored man, but he is not a fair specimen of his race, being one of those who voted the Democratic ticket last spring.

The Albany people are pushing enterprises for the benefit of their town with commendable energy. The Democrat says: Messrs. Luther Elkins, Dr. Alexander, Martin Luper, A. Hackleman, Allen Parker, and J. F. Backensto have filed articles of incorporation under the title of the "Albany and Santiam Ditch Canal Company," with a capital stock of $30,000, for the construction of a water ditch from the Santiam river to this city. Mr. L. Elkins is authorized to open stock books immediately and receive subscriptions at $100 a share to the amount of the capital stock. It is designed to begin the work during the present year and to rush it through to a successful termination as early as is possible, and from the energy and perseverance of the incorporators, we have confident hopes of their early success. Let everybody walk up and take stock in the enterprise, and it will be a better investment than paying $50,000 for a railroad.

THE TERRITORIES.

From the Boise Statesman: Last Thursday, a man by the name of Monterey, while at work in Bacey's saw mill, on the Payette, was [illegible] by the saw and horribly mangled. The saw tore the flesh off the calf of his leg and thigh. Some of the bones were crushed by the saw.

A letter from the Snake river mines to a Boise paper contains this: According to the number engaged in the business of mining on Snake river, they have done as well during the past summer as the miners in any other part of the Pacific slope. The gold found here is of a very fine quality, and is called flour gold. The only profitable method of working these mines is by the rocker, with copper plate, reminding one of "forty-nine" as he sees them strung along the river. Heretofore the Chinese were prohibited from mining in this district; but last fall that provision was repealed. This district, which is called Black Sand District No. 2, is about fourteen miles in extent, and will pay from five to eight dollars per day to the hand. The Chinese, as a class, are better adapted for this sort of mining, and there is room here for five hundred of them. Therefore let them come; they can work in peace.

Last October a man named George Meyer was killed on the trail leading from Loon creek to Salmon City. Until recently the circumstances have never been made known to the public. An Idaho paper thus gives them: Some time before the close of the mining season at Loon creek, there was very much leave taking between two days, by debtors of the traders in the camp, and many of these debtors went out with the money which should have been applied to the payment of their honest debts. For a time there was much mounting in hot haste, and midnight raids out after the absconders. At first there was a determined attempt to enforce the legal remedies and penalties, but, owing to sharp secretions by the bilks, they were rendered unavailing. Among others thus putting out surreptitiously and leaving creditors holding the bag, was this George Moyer. Two of the creditors, Thomas Hogle (commonly known as "Jimmy Garo") and Jake Paynter, knowing that Moyer had drawn a deposit just before leaving, and had money besides, started in pursuit, about one day behind. They proposed, when they overtook him, unless he paid up, to stick to him until they could have him regularly arrested, and put through a course of law. They overtook him on the trail about 25 miles from Salmon City. He faced round upon his pursuers, and, upon a demand that he pay the money that he was owing, without further ceremony, drew his knife and rushed like a tiger upon Jimmy Garo. Garo drew his revolver and fired at him, not intending to hit him, but only to stay his onset. But Moyer came on and bore Garo to the earth, cutting and stabbing him in the head, shoulder, side and arms. Garo called to Paynter to "shoot for God's sake, and not let him murder me," whereupon Paynter fired twice at Moyer, missing him the first shot, and shooting him through the jaw the second time. Moyer then threw up his hands and released Garo. He then threw out a purse of money, saying to them to "take it." They gave it back to him to use for his recovery. At that time Garo was supposed to be much the most seriously wounded of the two. Moyer started up the trail and traveled off with apparent ease. He was found dead on the trail, the next day, about five miles from the scene of the affray. He was supposed to have overheated himself and bled to death. Garo lay for some weeks between life and death, but finally recovered.

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee have agreed to report in favor of the appropriation of $5,000 to Robinson, the man who saved the life of William H Seward when he was attacked by Paine; also a medal.

There are no new developments regarding the organization of the new House. No candidates for Speaker or Clerk have been announced in opposition to the present incumbents. Gen. Paine, of Wisconsin, who now is a member, will go before the Republican caucus for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms, while a strife over the Postmastership is already evident. There is no doubt that the Forty second Congress will meet on March 4th.

Mr. Cook, Chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia, hopes to have prepared, and the consent of the committee given him to report, a bill providing a government for the District of Columbia. The bill is dissimilar from any heretofore presented, and proposes a government consisting of a Governor and a Council of eleven, to be appointed by the President, with an Assembly elected by the people. A delegate in Congress to be elected by the people, is also contemplated by the bill.

RHEUMATIC CURE.

HISTORY:

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principles of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thapsim, Cordatum, Origanus, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon—Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county

PROPERTIES, &c.:

It contains an active volatile principle extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic principle.

Medical Properties and Uses:

It is the most Sure and Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds that has ever been introduced in the Materia Medica. The Unk Weed Remedy as prepared by us, in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the necessary virtue of being a POWERFUL TONIC!

Promoting the Appetite and Invigorating the Whole Digestive Apparatus, thus building and strengthening the system, while at the same time the volatile principle, being absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheumatic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system.

There are few remedies known to the Medical profession, which will remove the Rheumatic poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable. Hence the want of success in treating this prevalent, and in consequence, heretofore incurable disease. Unlike these Medicines, already known, the

"Unk Weed Remedy"

Though producing as powerful and as active effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and recuperating element, which admits of its continued use even in the most delicate and debilitated. Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two once antagonistic elements in the one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never failing curative effects in

SUBJECT—Toussaint L'Ouverture, the Hero of San Domingo.

The character of Toussaint L'Ouverture may well be considered as one of the most striking of that remarkable era, opened by the revolution of 1789—the central figure of which was the great Napoleon.

So soon as it was known in San Domingo that a the public had been declared in France, the French residents of the Island sent a congratulatory address to the Constituent Assembly, and cordially accepted the new order of things. At this time the free people of the Island were denied all privileges, and slavery existed in its worst form. A revolt at once took place, and a bloody war followed, which resulted in the freeing of the slaves and the placing of Toussaint at the head of the combined armies of France and the French. Under his leadership the attempts of England at Spain to wrest San Domingo from France were successfully met and Toussaint declared himself President of the Republic of Hayti. This proved distasteful to the Man of Destiny, then First Consul, and he sent a force to reduce the Island, and re-establish slavery. The story of treachery and decoy, the manly and dignified bearing of L'Ouverture, his tragic fate, all combined to form an intensely interesting chapter of history, and one but little known.

San Domingo is just now exciting so much attention in view of the possibility of its becoming a part of the Great Republic, that all items of interest concerning it are eagerly sought for by the people.

Mr. Riley's lecture will incidentally embody a full description of its geographical position, its products and people, and without pretending to advocate either side of the controversy now existing in regard to its acquisition, will give a purely historical address, devoid of political bias.

Those who have listened to Mr. Riley's platform addresses, need not be told that he speaks with fluency, correctness and fervor, and is master of a rhetoric which often rises to eloquence. When it is considered that his natural abilities have been aided by self-culture only, under the disadvantages peculiar to his race, no fair-minded person will fail to give him a respectful hearing.

THE VIEUXTEMPS BROTHERS

Have kindly volunteered to furnish music on the evening of each Lecture.

A QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.—A few weeks ...ce the question of the right of the city of East ...and to control the county roads within its ...undaries, was referred to the City Attorney, Mr. ...B. Bellinger. That gentleman sent in the ...llowing opinion to the Board of Trustees, at its ...meeting:

To the President, and Gentlemen of the Board of ...rustees: In obedience to your request I submit ...e following:

...Section 1, chapter 47, of the General Laws com...s the custody and control of all county roads ...the County Courts of the several counties, and ...its the establishing, altering or vacating of ...such road, except by the authority of the ...unty Court of the proper county.

PETTY MISCHIEF.—"A few nights ago," says the Advocate, "a ... brass key belonging to the outside door of the Taylor street M. E. church was taken ... the lock and carried off. ... ... has happened to the front door ... ... office. We cannot imagine the promptings of such mischievous tricks except the desire to try the keys on other locks. On last Saturday week ... thoughtless boys from town fired with ... shot-guns through the front door of the Zion school-house, on the hill southwest of, ... broke open the windows, entered the house, ... strong other deeds of mischief carried off the stool stock."

AN OATMEAL MILL.—Mr. John Milne, late of Canada, is getting ... and machinery constructed for a new mill ... about six miles from Portland on the ... road—where an old flouring mill has ... for several years. LOCAL BREVITIES.

A regular meeting of the Board of Delegates of the Fire Department, will be held at the Council Chamber this evening.

The St. Joseph's Parochial school (Catholic) will be continued, as teachers have been sent out from the east.

The Catholic Sentinel begins its second volume to-day.

There will be an election this evening at the Armory of the Bell Cadets, for a battalion commander, who will take the rank of Major.

There will be a regular semi monthly meeting of Baker Post No 1, G. A. R., at the corner of Madison and First street, at 7 o'clock this evening.

Within the last two or three days nearly 500,000 feet of lumber has arrived at this city from mills down the river.

The Bell Cadets erected a fine flag staff over their Armory yesterday forenoon.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—Mrs. Bates' farewell benefit was another added to her long list of successes in this city. The house was filled and the beneficiary was received with all the cordial warmth that a Portland audience always has for her. The pieces played were exceedingly well put on the stage and throughout were met with appreciative applause. Mrs. Bates retires for the present, (after to-night) with the proof afforded her last night that she has most indubitably held her place as the favorite of our people longer by far, than any actress who ever preceded her; and this is a success and triumph for her of no small meaning and value. The public will hardly consent, we think, that she shall leave us without appearing again.

RAILROAD SUBSCRIPTIONS.—The canvassing committee are prosecuting the work of procuring the balance needed to make up the $100,000 railroad fund, and they are meeting with moderate success. They intend at all events to close the affair up at the meeting Monday evening.

HE WILL DO IT AGAIN!—Everybody will recollect what a tremendous furor was made in San Francisco a year or two ago about the astounding rope-walking feat from Seal Rock to the Cliff House, a distance of 375 feet, and at the height of 100 feet from the water; but everybody does not know that the daring man who did it is now in this city. Mr. Jas. Cook, now connected with the Oro Fino Theater, is the man! And we are authoritatively informed that arrangements are now in progress for a similar feat here. It will be an act more daring and astonishing than any ever witnessed on the Pacific coast, the Cliff House alone excepted. On that occasion the crowd of people collected to witness the act was one of the largest ever seen together even in California, and the popular excitement about it was never exceeded by that attendant upon any public performance. This papers were full of it, and it was the topic of every conversation for days. We are not advised as to the when or where, but we can say confidently that Mr. Cook having done the feat, "he will do it again," and soon, and at or near this city.

FEVER AND AGUE.—Why shake? PLANTATION BITTERS will positively cure any form of intermittent fever. Travel through any region where the malady prevails, and all who have tried the preparation will tell you so. Thousands of families in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, and on the borders of the Southern rivers and swamps, regard it as a specific for the complaint. Nothing could induce them to be without it; and they begin to take it regularly at the commencement of the Spring and at the close of Summer, as a safeguard against malaria. They show their wisdom thereby. The shivering plague passes their doors without intruding, to smite their neighbors who have shown less forecast. Every year, however, the number of these unprovident victims decreases. There is no teacher like experience; and when a shaking and burning sufferer sees his friend on the next farm or plantation in perfect health, though breathing the same atmospheric poison as himself, and learns that this exception to the complaint is due to PLANTATION BITTERS

"THEIR NAME IS LEGION," may be applied to those who die annually of Consumption. Science has of late years sensibly diminished the number, and it is gratifying to know that DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY has created a potent influence in attaining this end.

The Twenty-Third Street Hero.

The following article from the New York Tribune, referring to a matter in which Jim Fisk was recently engaged, is very well "put up:"

Mr. Jim Fisk, jr., in the character of Plutus, is one of the familiar figures of the American metropolis. He is not unknown also in the blazing armor of Mars, or in the gold lace and navy buttons of Palinurus. His feats are as famous as the banquets of Eucullus, his pleasures as princely as the recreations of Heliogabalus. His latest appearance, however, in the more heroic role of Achilles, will arouse in the public mind emotions equally compounded of pleasure and surprise. No exploit in which he has hitherto engaged will compare with the fierce war fare by which he now shakes the halls of justice and fills the public prints. Achilles' wrath, to Stokes the direful spring of woes unnumbered, was all about a woman, The Briseis of the modern Iliad is Mrs. Josephine Mansfield Lawlor, well known to the mimic boards as a beautiful blonde. How Mr. Fisk led her away captive, as the Grecian hero led away the daughter of Brises, we need not stop to tell. The glory of the golden bower, so to speak, wherein the warrior and his charmer wiled away the rosy hours, the splendor of the Lawlor chariots, the sheen of the Lawlor's robes, these were the talk of the town and the envy of the ballet. The stage mourned its lost star, but mankind in public resorts gazed with admiration upon the happy, happy pair, and realized the truth of the song that none but the brave, none but the brave, none but the brave deserve the fair. In an evil hour came Agamemnon, in the shape of Stokes, and took Briseis to his own tent. To be more exact, Briseis turned Achilles out of the golden bower, and requested him not to come there any more. Her feelings toward him she defined to be those of "unmitigated disgust." "Ned," exclaimed the sobbing Colonel, "she won't let me leave my gum-shoes in the house."

Most of our readers will acknowledge that [illegible] was carrying matters to an extreme; and [illegible] tears and entreaties of Mr. Fisk had [illegible] move either the infatuated Stokes or [illegible] Josephine, it was only natural [illegible] animosity should fire the bosom [illegible] ardent lover. The power of the Erie [illegible] army was first brought into play, [illegible] those gum-shoes to their proper [illegible] on the [illegible] door-mat. Stokes had a [illegible] road, representing an amount [illegible] $50,000 a year. It was promptly [illegible] Stokes had a business connection [illegible] Mr. Fisk individually—in other words, Achilles and Agamemnon were partners in the oil business—that business must be broken up. The manner of the breaking is known exactly only to the Erie lawyers. How Fisk promised to sell, and [illegible] how Fisk promised to buy and didn't; [illegible] the four or five partners suddenly became "protect" themselves against each other and Law, as a result of the jumble, Mr. Stokes found himself one night in jail—all this has been told in the police reports, and [illegible] it clear from it all except that oil has an virtue to heal a wounded heart, that Fisk is still raging for his Josie and the Lawlor, and faith [illegible] Stokes.

Meanwhile Agamemnon has got out of [illegible] and gone back to the arms of Briseis, and the fair one is testifying "unmitigated disgust" [illegible] proprietor through the medium of [illegible] affidavits duly sworn to and attested. Rumor has it that Mr. Fisk has resorted, to his customary remedy, and caused [illegible] Barnard to solemnly enjoin Mrs. Lawlor from receiving the visits of the too successful Stokes. We are not prepared to substantiate this statement, but any one who has watched Mr Fisk's career in our courts will accept it as [illegible] probable. Judge Barnard is understood to be "great on injunctions" and he has many a time done service for the Vice-President of Erie quite as meritorious as the kindness he is reported to have [illegible] in the present afflicting case. The [illegible] of law in New York city is subject [illegible] to ordinary aberrations, and if there is [illegible] to which an injunction cannot be [illegible] Judge Barnard we are sure is not aware of it.

A Good Old Fashioned Ghost Story.

[illegible] in Cheshire, is the ancestral seat [illegible] family, says a writer in a late number of Household Words. The old part of the mansion has been made into bed [illegible] offices, not being in keeping with the [illegible] of modern requirements. Thus, [illegible] is called the "coved saloon" has first descended into a nursery, and is now used as a bedroom. [illegible] the late Lord C. grew old, this room in which he had played as a child was [illegible] by his niece, Miss [illegible] who on her marriage, resided in the [illegible] drawing room was only [illegible] from the "coved saloon" by a short [illegible]

One evening Miss P. was alone dressing for a very late dinner [illegible] she rose from her chair [illegible] some article of dress, she saw [illegible] near her bed—a little iron one, placed [illegible] the room away from the wall—the figure of a child dressed in a very quaint frock, with an old little ruff around its neck. For some moments Miss P. stood and stared, wondering how this strange little creature could have entered her room. The full glare of the candle was upon its face and figure. As she stood looking at it the child began to turn round and round the bed in a wild dissipated way, with a look of suffering in its little face.

Miss P., still more and more surprised, [illegible] up to the bed and stretched out her [illegible] when the child suddenly vanished, [illegible] where she did not see, but apparently [illegible] floor. She went at once to Lady C.'s [illegible] inquired of her to whom the little [illegible] belong she had just seen in her [illegible] expressing her belief that it was super- [illegible] and describing her odd dress and [illegible] countenance.

The ladies went down to dinner, for many [illegible] staying in the house. Lady C. thought and thought over this strange appearance. At last she remembered that Lord C. told her that one of his earliest recollections was the grief that he felt at the sudden death of a little sister of whom he was very fond, fourteen years old. The two children had been playing in the nursery—the same coved saloon" running round the bed—ever- [illegible] In the morning when he awoke he was told she had died in the night, and he was taken by one of the nursery-maids to see her laid out on her little bed in the "coved saloon." The sheet placed over her was removed to show him her face. The horror he had felt at the first sight of death made so [illegible] an impression on him that in extreme old age he still recalled it. The dress and face of the child, as described by Miss P., agreed precisely with his remembrance of his sister. Both Lady C. and Miss P. related this to the writer.

"Pink and White" Tyranny.

Mrs. Stowe in her novel of that above title undertakes to portray the class of weak, clinging, dependent women, who make their monticum of characterless beauty, and their interesting helplessness their most powerful weapons. The beauty of the Pink and White school achieves most signal triumphs, not by efforts at brilliancy, not by her vivacity, her wit, her cleverness, or her accomplishments, but by simply drooping and languishing. She is too delicate and sensitive a creature for effort of any kind. She throws herself upon others and exacts sympathy. Her very helplessness is her greatest strength. By it she tyrannizes over men who would resist the influence of an energetic, helpful, self-reliant woman. For it is a fact that the average man is attracted by this "clinging" inefficient, selfish style of woman. Why? The average man is vain, and has a tolerable share of conceit. Moreover, the average man, in these degenerated days is not a strong man. Hence he likes to have something to cling to him, to look to him for protection, advice and support. He is flattered by the fancy that he is the sturdy oak, and she the clinging vine. And so her weaknesses, and her fears become her. She is never so charming as when she shrieks at sight of a "hateful" spider, or a "dreadful" mouse. Thus it happens that by an inscrutable dispensation of providence the most worthless class of women, women who lead an utterly unprofitable existence, too self-indulgent to dream of any sacrifice for others, too impoverished, in heart and mind for any generous thought or deed, go through life admired, petted, and helped (when they need help) while their nobler sisters often seem to be deprived of the sympathy and assistance they deserve, by the very courage and energy which they manifest in trying to assist themselves.

The Pine Bluff, Ark., Republican says: "On Saturday last, the star actress of Nelson's theatre, Miss Virginia Dee, entered the store of S. V. Caulk, and inquired if Mr. Austin was in. Our friend Jake politely came forward and announced himself the person called for. Said Miss Dee:

'I understand you have been talking about me.'

Jake—Yes, I did speak of you. What did you hear I said of you?'

Virginia—'I heard you said I winked at you.

Jake—Yes, I did say that.'

Virginia—(drawing a pistol from her pocket, and pointing it at Jake)—'Well, sir, I don't know what the laws of this State are in regard to slander, but if they don't protect me, I will protect myself. Now, sir you must write an apology.'

So, under the genial and soothing influence of that pistol, Jake washed the bacon grease from his hands, and wrote the fair damsel an apology for saying that she 'winked at him.'"

LAND DEPARTMENT
OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a preemption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, on the 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a title from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expense of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

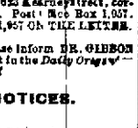
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET,
NEAR COMMERCIAL,
San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Seminal and Sexual Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Sore Legs cured permanently treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering from a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to these who are suffering with any of the loathsome and horrible destroyers, and assure that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to a most unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of horrible symptoms, unless combated by powerful medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, unsteadiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies should not delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will treat no patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure in each case he charges.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance can be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. [illegible] stating symptoms, length of time the disease has existed, and what medicines promptly forwarded, free from observation, to any part of the country, with full and explicit directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.
